Money is in full supply on call at 4@6 per cent, with a good deal refused by leading houses at 5 per cent. Commercial paper is more carefully examined but when strictly first-class and short, sells at 6@7 per cent. Second rate passes at [8@10, and there is a good deal of "extra hazardous" at corresponding high interest. Present indications favor an easy money market on call, but August may produce a different state of things. On the 10th proximo, compound notes to the extent of $50,000,000 fall due and their mode of payment becomes of interest to borrowers. If the Treasury pays them, it will probably put itself in funds, by selling gold, and drawing its balances with the National Banks closely, two operations not favorable to rampant speculation. Should the Department, however, issue the S per cent certificates in exchange for them, there will be no vibration in the money market of consequence. With 5-20s at 108} for the new issue, it is the plain duty of Mr. McCulloch to pay every dollar of compounds as they mature. The crop advices from all sections of the new buyers are ready to operate, and former sellers are eager to take their stocks back. The attendance of speculators at the boards is large, and the common belief is that much higher prices are to be reached, an opinion for which there seems no good reason outside the wishes of speculators for a rise.

After the call prices were a shade lower, but buyers were abundant. At the Second Board the market was

There was no material change in the money market to-day. There was an active demand, with an adequate supply of capital, and discounts were close. The demand for money is increasing gradually as the feeling in business circles improves, and as yet there is not a corresponding influx of currency. Rates of interest range from 8 to 12 per cent. The Scotia's mail brings advice of the amalgamation of the firm of Messrs. Finlay, Hodgson & Co., tion of the firm of Messrs. Finlay, Hodgson & Co., merchant bankers of London, with the house of Messrs. Baring Brothers & Co. The London Times makes the following notice of this change:

makes the following notice of this change:

It has transpired that a union has been arranged between the houses of Baring Brothers & Co. and Finlay, Hodgson & Co. It is to date from Monday next, the 1st of July, and the name of Baring Brothers & Co. will be continued as the title for the combined establishments. The Liverpool firm of Thomson, Finlay & Co., which was united with that of Finlay, Hodgson & Co. in 1886, is to be included in the amalgamation. One or two-sof the partners in each house will, it is understood, takes the opportunity of retiring—namely, Mr. Duncan James Kay and Mr. Kirkman Finlay of Liverpool, and Mr. Charles Baring Young. The united business will, as soon as the requisite arrangements can be made, be conducted entirely at No. 8 Bishopsgate-st. The house of Baring Brothers & Co. had its origin under the title of John Francis Baring & Co., in 1761, and was constituted in its present form in 1863. Lord Ashburton retired from it in 1854, and Mr. Joshna Rates, who then became scalor partner, died shortly afterward. Mr. Thos. Baring, the member for Huntingdon, is now the principal. The house of Finlay, Hodgson & Co., of which Mr. Kirkman Daniel Hodgson, the member for Bridgeport, is the present head, was established in 1808. Both Mr. Baring and Mr. Kirkman Hodgson are Directors of the Bank of England. The character of the business of cach firm was in a great measure identical, and their respective partners have long been connected by mutual friendships.

The Bank Note Reporter has the following on certain difficulties arising out of the methods of estimating the exchanges between this country and England:

difficulties arising out of the methods of estimating the exchanges between this country and England:

"The quotation of our bonds in London at 73, really means 80 in gold, or its equivalent, a dollar in London being called 4s. 6d. sterling, when it is really worth 10 per cent. more if recolned into sovereigns. A thousand dollar bond sold in London at 75 gives $750, which; rated at 4s. 6d. sterling, is equal to £164 $5.; this again put into dollars at 4s 89 per 2. gives $891 $8. 4d. for the bond. The awk-wardness arises from the fact that a dollar in London is not rated at what it is worth by 10 per cent; and the same awkwardness arises here by our rating a pound sterling at 4s 4d, when its real specie value is 4s 8s, or sterling exchange at 110. It would be an easy thing for our Government to fix the commercial and Custom-House value of a pound sterling at what a sovereign is intrinsically worth when recoined into dollars; and it would be equally easy for the English Government to fix the value of a dollar at its intrinsic worth when recoined into sterling money. This, simple as it is, is ofmore real unse to the people of both nations sand to other nations, than the natch talked of scheme for a uniform coinage of all nations. Since a sovereign is the specie representative of a pound sterling, we should rate the pound according to the amount of gold in the English should rate if at what it will produce in sterling when recoined at Her Majesty's infut. If this were done the American people could easily understand the true value of sterling money, and the English could fix a correct value to American people could easily understand the true value of sterling money, and the English could fix a correct value to American people could easily understand the true value of sterling money, and the English could fix a correct value to American coinage. It is, however, of more importance to merchants and travelers to have these errors corrected, than to stock-dealers, exchange dealers or bankers.
